

Supporting Techniques

- Students are allowed to support objects or people based on their age, strength, and level of ability.
- When supporting people use hips and shoulders. Do not support people using the neck, head, or lower back.
- To provide safe support the base must be stable (for example, both feet on the floor, with feet shoulder width apart, and the knees bent).